

David Cotterrell: Philip Leverhulme Prize

Date: 27th October 2009

David has been awarded a Philip Leverhulme Prize.

The Trustees are pleased to announce the results of the 2009 competition for Philip Leverhulme Prizes. These Prizes are awarded to outstanding young scholars who have made a substantial and recognised contribution to their particular field, are recognised at an international level, and whose future contributions are held to be of correspondingly high promise.

Further details can be found at the Leverhulme Trust website.
